Introduction

Long term care and relating services are expanding as the demands of an aging population increase and the projected number of seniors are expected to represent over a quarter of New Brunswick's population in the near future. As programs, services, and advocates continue to increase to provide the necessary services, it becomes overwhelming to understand what can be accessed by whom and when and at what cost. This is not only true for the system user, but also for those working across the continuum in long term care.

The New Brunswick Association of Nursing Homes has prepared this document as tool for all interested in understanding what is available in NB as it relates to long term care. Efforts will be made to periodically update the information, but given the rate that services can change we consider this document to be continuously evolving so the information identified should not be considered to be exhaustive.

Inclusion Criteria

In determining what organizations, programs and services should be included in the document, the following criterion was utilized:

- A program or service designed exclusively for seniors
- Programs or services that include seniors in their eligibility and scope
- Any program or service that might be useful to meet the long term care needs of seniors

Layout of Information:

In an effort to organize the information as logically as possible, six categories were identified. They are: 1) Advocacy organizations 2) Residential care (within SEP) 3) Home Care 4) Housing 5) Support Service Organizations and 6) Transportation. The programs, services and organizations were grouped under each category and then placed in a spreadsheet and hyperlinked to any on-line information. In addition, any other know information that pertains to language of service delivery, organizational capacity or eligibility criteria is noted.

It should also be noted that some programs, services and organizations has noted in more than one category as the scope was applicable to more than one category.
